FROM THE DESK OF THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

The year 2010-2011 was marked by number of wins in CHILDLINE India's work for/with children. The year began with securing a landmark judgment on the Anchorage sexual abuse case by the Supreme Court after 10 tumultuous years and several hearings at the Lower & Bombay High Courts. Another legal victory was in securing double life terms for 20 accused in Ahmednagar for sexually abusing a 14 year old girl child.

CHILDLINE 1098 responded to 2.2 million calls this year.

2010-2011 saw the service expand to cover 125 cities through our network of 311 partner organizations; preparatory activity was completed for 90 locations. 1098 became a Category I service making it mandatory for every telecom service provider to open the service on their networks, thus improving access for all children to this protection service; The CHILDLINE Contact Centre (CCC) has scaled up to cover 23 cities in India and soon will connect all cities in the country.

With the roll out of the Integrated Child Protection Scheme (ICPS), CHILDLINE has become an important mechanism of the nations child protection system and has been co-opted in numerous central, state and district level committees on child rights and protection such as National Advisory Group on child labour, Member on State Coordination Committee set up by the Mumbai High Court to review children's homes in Maharashtra, member of several State Child Protection Society (SCPS) and District Child Protection Society (DCPS). This is a great achievement as it places CHILDLINE in forums where it can facilitate dialogue towards a better child protection environment for children pan India.

This year CIF undertook a special initiative towards awareness about child sexual abuse among children in schools. This program has the ambitious goal of reaching school children of standard 2nd to 6th in all schools of Mumbai before travelling to other cities. This year too CHILDLINE met with great success at the Mumbai and Delhi Marathon, and was one of the highest pledge raisers in both cities, thanks to the efforts of many CHILDLINE Dosts who use this platform to support us.

It gives me great pleasure to present you the CHILDLINE Annual Report 2010-2011.

Sources of CHILDLINE Cases

CHILDLINE CONTACT CENTRE (CCC)

The CHILDLINE Contact Centre (CCC) service coverage has grown during the period under review to 23 cities. So calls on 1098 from cities serviced by CCC are answered by CCC. CCC is a 24 hour voice response facility of CHILDLINE operating from Vikhroli in Mumbai. It uses the contemporary technology of a Call Centre.

Once a call is received at CCC, it is answered by trained CHILDLINE Contact Officers (CCOs). If the call resolution can be completed on the phone it becomes a CCC operation. However in calls requiring Direct Intervention, the CCO will capture call details and make an outbound call to the Collab Partner in the city where the call has come from. Then the Collab partner takes over, indicates to the CCC an Estimated Time of Intervention and post intervention reports the complete case details to CCC – this enables the CCC to complete the case documentation.

Overview of CCC in 2010-11:

Total number of calls received for the year 2010-2011	577705
Total number of cities as on March 2010	23
Average on call time	30 Seconds
Average calls per month	48143
Average Abandoned Calls per month	4205
Average speed of Answer	05 Seconds
Average Abandoned Time	0.09 Seconds

Total number of calls serviced by CCC in March 2011 has grown by 145.47% as compared to April 2010 (calls serviced in 2009-10: 235340).

In the same way as cities reporting call statistics to ChildNet, Calls at CCC are reported into ChildNET and the Call Statistics presented earlier in this chapter includes calls received at CCC. Besides data of calls, the CCC technology allows us to capture and analyse data relating to the pattern of call flow into the CCC. Presented below are graphical reviews for the year 2010-2011:

MTD Trend - Av Speed of Answer & Service Levels

YEARLY TREND: CALLS MADE AND ABANDONED PERCENTAGE FOR THE YEAR 2010-2011

Yearly Trend - Calls and Abandon Percentage

Note: Abandoned calls are those that land on the telephone exchange of the CCC (Switch) but have been disconnected before it arrives at the desk of a CHILDLINE Contact Officer (CCO)- who normally answers calls. Calls may be abandoned due to line breaks or because caller disconnects or because all CCOs are busy and caller hears a recorded voice saying all agents are busy. Our objective is to keep number of abandoned calls down to a minimum.

CHILDLINE Network Growing!

CHILDLINE AT WORK

In India, CHILDLINE is a phone outreach based intervention model and the work begins when a call for help comes in. As soon as this happens, local CHILDLINE teams swing into action for direct intervention. Intervention covers a range of actions from rescuing children from abusive circumstances, providing immediate SOS attention, to registering a case at the police station, presenting a child to the Child Welfare Committee (CWC) in the city and developing the papers for onward action as directed by the CWC and so on.

Each 'case' has its own requirements. Some take less than an hour to resolve whereas others take months of work. CHILDLINE's operational model involves the team activating a variety of linkages among the allied system institutions such as police, municipality, health care, education and transport institutions along with the judiciary, child care NGOs, local, state and central governments. Very often, the team has to provide unique solutions that require a relevant interpretation of legislations such as the Juvenile Justice Act and others, and sensitise allied institutions to issues.

SOME INTERVENTIONS THAT WERE CARRIED OUT BY CHILDLINE ACROSS THE COUNTRY

Cleaning for a living

"I had to work for 10- 12 hours a day and the sores on my hands are very painful. Even though I used to cry with pain my employer never listened to my cry and made me work for long hours. Now I am happy to be rescued," said Bablo to CHILDLINE Gurgaon team member. Bablo, an 11-year old boy lived in Bihar with his grandfather. He had lost his parents at a tender age and felt like he was a burden at home. He decided to runaway to Gurgaon.

On reaching Gurgaon, he got himself a job at a restaurant. Bablo ended up getting bruises and scars, burn marks and cuts in addition to being tormented by his employer. Although he was extremely unhappy at his job, he had no other source of income and had to continue working at the restaurant. A concerned individual noticed Bablo who then reported to CHILDLINE. The Police officials and CHILDLINE rescued the child and arrested the employer on charges of Child Labour. The child was then directed to the Child Labour Rehabilitation Centre in Faridabad by the Child Welfare Committee (CWC).

An FIR was registered at the City Police Station, Gurgaon and the traffickers were booked under the Indian Penal Code, Child Labour Act, Juvenile Justice Act and the Bonded Labour Act. The matter was also brought to the notice of the Deputy Commissioner of Gurgaon.

Bonded to silk weaving

Anbazhagan was amongst the 18 other children, rescued from his laborious job. He had been a weaver in Kanchipuram, a town south of Chennai. He worked for 10 hours from dawn to dusk in order to pay back a loan of Rs. 3,800 that his parents had taken. On the 29th of November, 2010, CHILDLINE Kanchipuram received the fatal call from Muthuprakashan of the National Child Labour Project (NCLP). He had information on children working in silk weaving factories. CHILDLINE visited the location to confirm the information and spoke to some of the children.

"I would be beaten up every day by the owner and his son. When I returned home, my father would beat me up too. I didn't get time to "play," said a 14 year old Anbazhagan. His words were heart-breaking for anyone who heard him. CHILDLINE and the Police got together to chalk out a rescue plan for the children. The plan included conducting a raid in three phases. The team was divided into groups each having a certain set of responsibilities and expectations.

On November 30, 2010, the CHILDLINE team, the Labour Inspector, Police Officials and an NCLP member, conducted a raid at the factory and the dhaba in Chengulpet. 6 children were rescued during the raid. During the second and third raid held on December 2 and 8, 2010, the team rescued the remaining 12 children. It had been discovered that the children were working as slaves to their masters. The children were working long hours, without basic amenities and doing household chores besides their weaving tasks. They earned from Rs.80 to Rs.250 in a month, with deductions for loans taken.

As per protocol, the children were produced before the CWC. An FIR was filed against the employers and necessary action was taken for the children to be registered under Bonded Labour. Certificates from SDM were also issued in order to receive benefits of the welfare schemes under Child Labour Act and Bonded Labour Act. The children were directed to a Government children home in Rayapuram after which they were sent home to their parents.

Mass trafficking for child labour

The Patna to Ernakulam Express arrived at the Kharagpur Railway Station with 28 children, all below 14 years of age. CHILDLINE Paschim Medinipur team was out on their daily outreach activity when they noticed children at the Railway Station. The team suspected that the children and the 3 adults accompanying them were not traveling with any proper documents.

CHILDLINE team called the GRPS & RPF for assistance. The team along with the Police rescued all the children and gave them shelter at the Centre. They were then moved to the waiting room at the Railway Station before they were directed to a temporary shelter home by the CWC.

Repeated interrogation and questioning led to the team collecting significant facts on the case. The children were from underprivileged families in Bihar. They were accompanied by 3 adults who were taking them to Tamil Nadu to work in a factory. An FIR and GDE was registered against the offenders. Today, the traffickers are behind bars and the children have been handed over to CHILDLINE Patna for restoration with their parents.

Innocence lost in a factory

Sahil, Gulrukh, Faizan and Atul (below 14 years of age) resided in Uttar Pradesh. Their economic stature compelled them to travel all the way to Southern India to work at a Bag Making unit in Kochi. CHILDLINE Kochi received a frantic call from a neighbour in the district that housed this bag-making unit. They had heard sounds of children crying in the wee hours of the night and hoped CHILDLINE would intervene accordingly.

The team worked in close coordination with the Kasaba Police in order to carry out a meticulously planned rescue operation.

During the rescue, the team learnt that the condition in the bag-making unit was unhealthy and the children were engaged in hazardous jobs. Gradually a rapport was built with the children in order to gain their trust. They were brought before the CWC who directed them to a temporary shelter home. The investigation continued in order to trace their parents. The case is still under strict vigilance.

Child sexual abuse

"I dream of joining the police to help unfortunate girls like me stand on their feet again." These are the words of an innocent 20 year old girl who saw the light of justice 6 years after being a victim of rape and flesh trade. The story of Neha is no ordinary narration.

On 23rd February, 2006, CHILDLINE Ahmednagar received a call from an anxious father to report a complaint for his missing 14-year old daughter Neha. The man was a rickshaw driver in Maliwada and lost his wife when Neha was still very young.

Neha had been threatened and taken to various places such as Dhule, Ahmednagar, Sangamner, Shahada, Shirdi and Goa and repeatedly raped by those who abducted her. After much investigation and effort, the CHILDLINE Ahmednagar team managed to rescue the child. She was convinced to file a police complaint in February 2010 in order to receive the justice she deserved. As many high profile individuals were involved, Neha's case was handed over to the State Crime Investigation Department (CID).

The main accused, Sheela Bargal, died a couple of months after the case was registered. The hearing of the case lasted for more than 4 years and 38 witnesses were examined. In September 2010, the District and Sessions Court judge Makarand D. Keskar convicted the accused under section 376(2)(g) gang rape, 120(b), 376(rape), 120(b) and section 5(a)(1)(d) of the Prevention of Immoral Trafficking Act (PITA) and 366 (kidnapping). The convicts were given double life terms.

CHILDLINE was largely instrumental in the conviction of 20 high profile individuals exposed for their participation in a brutal case of gang rape, trafficking and commercial sexual exploitation and received the much deserved accolade and appreciation from various NGOs, Police and the Media for successfully carrying out this case.

All the 25 people had been charged with gang-rape of a minor girl after luring and kidnapping her with the promise of giving money. The girl was raped in various lodges in Ahmednagar, Shirdi, Nimgaon Jali and Dhule. The case was exposed by Childline-Snehalya in Ahmednagar, following a tip-off. Childline convinced the victim to file a police complaint at the Topkhana police station.

Since several local politicians and influential traders were involved in the scandal, the case was handed over to the state criminal investigation department (CID), which had filed a chargesheet.

Special public prosecutor Vijay Sawant told TOI that the convicts were punished under section 376 (2)(g)-gang rape; 120 (b), 376 (rape); 120 (b) and section 5 (a)(1)(d) of the Prevention of Immoral Trafficking Act (PITA) and 366 (kidnapping).

"The convicts have been asked to pay a fine of Rs 10,000 each for every section under which he was booked. Fifty per cent of the fine amount will be used for rehabilitating the victim," Sawant said. The hearing lasted for four years and 38 witnesses were examined.

Run away child

Mumbai for many is synonymous with the 'City of Dreams'. Many children run away from home in the hope of making a better life and being part of a glamorous world. Reshma, a 14 year old girl ran away from her home in Nanded after a squabble with her mother. She came to the city she believed would give her the life she always wanted only to realise that she couldn't even afford room to rent for the night in Mumbai. She was left with no choice but to live off the Railway Station.

On the second day of her stay at Kalyan Station, she was noticed by members of the flesh trade industry who tried desperately to entice her into their world. This incident was narrated to CHILDLINE Kalyan by a concerned individual.

The team reached the location immediately and noticed a few women cajoling Reshma into going with them. They would have ultimately sold her to a brothel. The team intervened by talking to Reshma and counseling her. The women kept intruding and trying to convince the child otherwise. The team was successful in taking the child to the CHILDLINE Centre and extracting details of her whereabouts. Reshma was later produced before the CWC who directed her to a temporary shelter home for the destitute in Titwala. Meanwhile, CHILDLINE contacted her brother Mallesh Gadappa, who came to CHILDLINE Kalyan and took Reshma back home with him.

Abandoned baby in Lucknow

CHILDLINE Lucknow received a call from Police for immediate assistance. They had found a new born baby, barely two days old deserted at Banthara. The baby was lying amid the bushes, without even a shred of cloth on her, when found in the wee hours of morning by a police patrol.

CHILDLINE Lucknow team rushed to the spot and took the infant to Jhalkari Bai Hospital for immediate care. "We were shocked to see that somebody could throw the newborn at a place where she could have been easily devoured by stray dogs. Even a vehicle could have run over the baby. Her survival is indeed miraculous," said Varsha Sharma, Coordinator, CHILDLINE Lucknow.

Necessary arrangements were made, support was provided by the CHILDLINE Lucknow team. The baby was not more than two days old and had infection in the navel. After providing first aid and giving medical treatment, the baby was discharged. Meanwhile, the Child Welfare Committee (CWC) studied the case and requested CHILDLINE to shift the child to children home.

Child marriage mela

In December 2010 CHILDLINE Coimbatore received a call from a well-informed lady who shared information on a mass marriage, scheduled to happen in the village of Karadimadai.

A team member of CHILDLINE decided to visit the village to check the same, after speaking to Ujjwala, a 13 year girl, he learnt that her marriage was preset by her parents with a farmer of the village who was 10 years older than her. The marriage was planned to coincide with the auspicious period of Valarpirai.

U Santhanam, the Director of CHILDLINE Coimbatore wrote a complaint to P. Umanath, District Collector, informing him about the gravity of the issue at hand. Immediate action was undertaken in which the CHILDLINE team members, District Collector, Village Administrative Officer, Superintendent of Police and 50 Police Personnel arrived at the village to stop the marriage.

After the parents of the children refused to cooperate and show any proof of the age of the child, the Police threatened to get them arrested for their illegal act. It took a lot of convincing and persuasion for the community to understand the dangers of child marriage.

In a bold initiative against child marriage, CHILDLINE Coimbatore and the Coimbatore district administration jointly foiled mass marriage and rescued 9 children. They also received coverage for the case in The Indian Express, The Hindu, The Times of India and local TV channels.

AN ALERT CITIZEN'S CALL SAVED A MINOR FROM FALLING INTO FLESH TRADE

Santosh Shinde
Had it not been for an alert citizen, 14-year-old Savita (name changed to protect her identity) would have joined million of faces in the flesh trade in the country. The girl had left her home in Nanded after an argument with her mother and came to Kalyan, vowing never to return. A day later, her dreams came crashing as her desire to make it big in the city of gold - Mumbai - were mere fantasy. When she got off at Kalyan station last week, she realized that she couldn't even afford a room on rent and had nothing to do as such to earn a livelihood. She stayed back on the railway station. Reached the area we saw the girl sitting next to few women who were busy convincing her to go with them," said Barse. It didn't take Barse and Surwade too long to figure that the women were pimps and were somehow cajoling Savita to go with them and that they would later sell her to a brothel. "We immediately confronted the girl and counseled her extensively. Throughout our conversation with the girl, the pimps kept intruding and telling her to join them if she wanted a comfortable and better life," added Barse. After a good hour of counseling, the girl agreed to go with Childline volunteers. She was kept at a home for destitute in Titwala.

On the second day however, she was targeted by pimps who were all out to lure her and make her part of the ever flourishing flesh trade industry. When the pimps were busy luring her, a Good Samaritan witnessed the entire sequence and immediately alerted Childline, an NGO that works for minors. Without wasting time, Childline volunteers from Kalyan, Sharad Barse and Nandana Surwade rushed to the designated spot, which the caller had pointed out. "The caller chose to remain anonymous but gave us specifics. Based on his information when we Childline volunteers also cajoled Savita to give her residence address and telephone number in Nanded. They got in touch with her brother Mallesh Gadappa (23), who rushed to Kalyan station. "I was so delighted to see her. My sister ran away from home after getting into an altercation with our mother. Now that she knows what people can do, I don't think she will ever run away from home and learn to deal with issues at home. I am grateful to the anonymous caller and these Childline volunteers. I just don't know how to thank them," said a teary eyed Mallesh.

Girls run away to avoid school lessons

Sainaba came from a lower income group her family included her parents and 5 siblings. Her father was a fisherman who worked hard to educate his children. On the other hand, his daughter was bored with school and didn't pay much heed during her classes. Her mother, a housewife, would beat her up in order to have her focus on her studies.

Sainaba and her class mate Nazhla ran away from home in order to avoid going to school. They took a train to Nagercoil and roamed the Railway Station. The girls were spotted by the Nagercoil Railway police Sub Inspector who then called CHILDLINE Coimbatore for help.

When the girls were taken to the centre, they were reluctant to share details with the team but eventually they did give their parents' address and contact information. The next day, the parents came to the centre and were counseled along with the children. As of Today, both the girls are happily attending school.

The joy of reunion

Chottu, a 10- year old lad ran away from home after being scolded by his father. In September, 2010, CHILDLINE Bhopal received a call from an individual who had been observed a child roaming on the streets. The team immediately reached the child and brought him to the CHILDLINE Centre.

A lot of coaxing and rapport building during the counseling session led Chottu to reveal the real reason he had run away from home. After living away from home, he expressed his longing to return home to his parents. Chottu was then brought before the CWC who directed him to Umeed Home. After a great deal of effort, the team was finally able to locate his home and repatriate Chottu with his family.

The uncomfortable truth

"When I saw him, he was not wearing any clothes. He was draped in a shabby towel and I gave him a pair of pants and a shirt," said Shivam. "The sabziwalla (vendor) in the vicinity of my home told me that he had been wandering in the area for the last four days."

Raju is an orphaned 15-year boy and he doesn't know it.

In September 2010, CHILDLINE Jammu was contacted by Shivam stating that a mentally challenged child was roaming on the streets. The team traced the child and brought him back to the CHILDLINE Centre. Raju had been residing in a children's home after he had lost his parents. Efforts were made to contact his relatives but they turned futile. Raju was then directed to the Rotary Inner Wheels Home for Mentally Retarded Children in Jammu by the CWC.

"CHILDLINE Jammu had handed over about six mentally retarded children to the home in the past two-three years. All of them are well looked home," said OP Gupta, Coordinator of CHILDLINE Jammu.

The route to trafficking

CHILDLINE Berhampur rescues seven girls on their way to Aligarh, Uttar Pradesh. The trafficking of teenage boys and girls from tribal-dominated districts of southern Orissa like Kandhamal, Gajapati, and Ganjam districts continues unabated.

CHILDLINE Berhampur, in association with the Police, rescued seven teenage girls, from Kotgarh in the Kandhamal district. These girls were rescued from the bus stand at Kotgarh, while they were allegedly trafficked to Aligarh to work at a meat packing industry. "We intimidated the districts of Kandhamal, Gajapati and Ganjam, and many children were rescued from various places in the city by CHILDLINE," said Sudhir Sabat, Director, CHILDLINE Berhampur.

The rescued girls aged between 13 and 18, hailed from the Marlanga gram panchayat in Kotgarh block. The children hailed largely from tribal-dominated and backward areas of Ganjam, Kandhamal and Gajapati, they were easily lured by the promise of higher wages and jobs in areas like Andhra Pradesh, Tamil Nadu, Uttar Pradesh, Haryana, New Delhi and Punjab, revealed the children to the CHILDLINE team.

The police arrested the trafficker and interrogated him. The role of some more persons suspected to be involved in the racket is being probed. The children were sent to shelter homes for a period of six months.

A knotty issue

A child marriage scheduled to take place in Kallagam village in Trichy was successfully prevented by CHILDLINE Trichy with intervention of Judicial Magistrate Court, Lalgudi. On March 23, 2011, CHILDLINE Trichy received a call from a concerned adult who shared information about the marriage of a twelve and a half year old girl in Lalgudi taluk, scheduled to happen in the village of Kallagam. The marriage of the girl with a 27-year-old relative was scheduled to take place on March 24, 2011. The child was studying in standard 7 in Government Higher Secondary School, Peruvallappur.

A team member of CHILDLINE decided to visit the village to gather some facts on the situation. The Centre Coordinator, CHILDLINE Trichy immediately met the caller, collected the marriage invitation and other details from the caller.

CHILDLINE instantly brought the case to the notice of Child Welfare Committee (CWC). T. Jayanthi Rane, Member of Child Welfare Committee contacted Ms. C. Poongodi, District Social Welfare Officer to discuss about the case. In the meanwhile, the District Social Welfare Officer approached the Judicial Magistrate Court, Lalgudi, requesting an order of injunction to restrain the marriage under the Child Marriage Prohibition Act 2006.

On March 23, 2011, the rescue team comprising of Mrs. C. Poogodi, District Social Welfare Officer and T. Jayanthi Rane, member of CWC, Mr. Albert Manoharan, Centre Coordinator of CHILDLINE Trichy met with Mr. P. Parthasarathi, Judicial Magistrate. The team explained about the case and gave a written petition along with the birth certificate of the child. The Judicial Magistrate summoned the Headmaster of the Government Higher Secondary School and verified the date of birth of the child.

Mr. P. Parthasarathi, Judicial Magistrate issued an interim order of injunction to stay the marriage. He also directed the parents, the bride and bridegroom to appear before him on March 25 in this regard. Ms. Poongodi served the court summons on the parents of the bride and bridegroom in their respective villages Nambukuruchi and Kallagam respectively. The marriage was scheduled to take place in a marriage hall in Kallagam was stopped following the court order.

CHILDLINE Trichy, CWC and the District Administration jointly foiled the child marriage and rescued the child. The case also received good coverage in the local media.

Hope for a better tomorrow

Anusha was confined to the four walls of her home only because she was blind. She always aspired to attend school and grow up to become a teacher, but her poor parents couldn't lend a hand in making her dream a reality. CHILDLINE Gwalior met Anusha during an outreach programme and wanted to delve further into her story. They visited her home in the Laxmi Ganj slum area and found that she hails from poor family background.

A medical check up stated that Anusha's blindness could never be cured. Hence, CHILDLINE spoke to her parents and encouraged them to send her to school. As they had no means of funding her education, they turned to CHILDLINE for help.

Anusha was admitted to the Amar Jyoti blind girl's school in Standard I after CHILDLINE met with the principal of the school. The school started providing her training in special skills such as braille, orientation, mobility, use of special devices, activities of daily living etc. After an initial preparation Anusha was given a Braille Kit comprising the basic educational devices needed by blind children.

Anusha is now studying in second standard and is fully conversant with English braille grade I and can read the same with considerable speed and accuracy. She has been taught to write on the braille slate and later has been given a braille by School which she can use with reasonable proficiency. Anusha is extremely diligent and has progressed to a considerable amount both at home and at school. There is no doubt that she has a bright academic future ahead of her despite being blind and belonging to a poor family.

Back to school

Many children in small towns don't lead the fairy-tale life they dream of in their childhood. But a twist in fate leaves room for a hint of hope. Chinnu was in the 8th grade when she met with a fateful accident that would have changed her life forever. Chinnu needed immediate medical care for her back injury, but the economic situation of her parent's stopped her from even visiting a doctor. Over time, her injury worsened and Chinnu was unable to walk.

CHILDLINE Gwalior was informed about Chinnu's case and the team immediately sprung into action and contacted Sahara Hospital for medical assistance. The Mayor of Gwalior promised to provide financial support whilst the hospital agreed to undertake the surgery free of cost under the guidance of Dr. Hitesh Garg. Post the successful surgery, Chinnu's life is back to normal and she has gone back to school.

Abused at home

Leela, a 14-year old child came from Kannur. Her life at home wasn't as easy as any other child her age. Apart from living in a small house and surviving on the wage of a daily labourer, she was subjected to sexual abuse by her father. This remained concealed from her mother as her father threatened to kill her if she spoke to anyone about it. Scared and unable to bare the torture of her fathers' heinous acts, Leela confided in her school teacher.

The teacher immediately contacted CHILDLINE Kannur who visited her mother at home and acquainted her with the situation. A report based on the intervention was submitted to the Additional Chief Judicial Magistrate who informed the Police to look into the matter. Leela's mother took the bold stand of filing an FIR against her husband. The child was given counseling at the CHILDLINE Centre after which she was shifted to a shelter home in Kannur. Thulasee Bhai, District Judge, sentenced Leela's father for life imprisonment, along with a fine of Rs.50000/- under Sec 376 of Indian Penal Code.

Living with substance

There has been a large scale increase in the use of whiteners as drugs among children in the past 2-3 years. What has added to the situation is that whiteners are not covered under the Narcotic Drugs and Psychotropic Substances Act, hence the problem persists. This issue is not only prevalent amongst urban and educated youth, but also amongst those living on the streets.

The story of 6-year old Littu is one such story. In September 2010, CHILDLINE Bhopal received a call about a young boy living at the Railway Station. On reaching the platform, the team realised that Littu was a whiteners addict. The child was cajoled into accompanying the team to the CHILDLINE Centre. Littu admitted to being an orphan and was brought before the CWC who directed him to Umeed Home in consultation with the Police. In November 2010, Littu confessed that his mother was still alive. The CHILDLINE team and the Police played an active role in tracing his mother and reuniting them.

Modern-day slavery

Born in a village in Orissa, Munna shifted to Chennai with his parents. Unable to support the family with his salary, Munna's father would abuse him and forced him to start supporting himself. At a tender age of 12 years, he began working at a factory for long hours, suffered physical torment and wasn't paid by his employer.

Munna had never been to school. All he had known was smoke and fumes from machines and pouring petrol into the fire point. During one such mundane day at work, Munna got severely burnt by fire and needed immediate medical assistance. The factory authorities didn't provide any help to the child and the family had to move back to their village to provide him with necessary treatment.

Unable to support the extensive medical treatment, Munna's parents contacted CHILDLINE Cuttack for help. He was admitted at the SCB Medical College and Hospital in the Burns ward. CHILDLINE took care of all the medical expenses. It was during a counseling session that Munna expressed his desire of not wanting to return to the factory. He said, "At work the supervisor used to beat me with a belt and tied a chain that was attached to the wall to my leg, if I didn't do my work properly."

Munna underwent six months of treatment before he recovered. He is currently admitted to school and lives happily with his family.

Beggar mafia thrive on poor children

Vikki, Mikki, Nisha, Anjali, Swaraj, Nirjila and Manav came from Orissa to Malappuram with their uncle, in search of a livelihood. Their families were completely dependent on them. On reaching Malappuram, the children were forced into begging. They were not provided with any support, food or even given their earnings. Eventually, they resorted to substance abuse.

CHILDLINE Malappuram was contacted. They were informed about 7 children who were begging at the Kottakal Bus stand. The team notified the Police about the same and 4 traffickers along with the children were taken under Police custody. After being taken to a safer environment, the children were taken for medical check-ups as they looked fragile and ill. The children grew confidence in the CHILDLINE team and expressed their desire to go back home and educate themselves. This case was then presented to the CWC who directed the children to the Children's home at Tavanur. CHILDLINE also brought to notice the possibility of organised begging gangs operating in the district. This was taken up by the CWC with the Police in order to keep a strict vigilance on the issue. The children are now under the care of their parents.

Violating child rights

Two out of three school going children in India are physically abused according to the national report on child abuse by the Ministry of Women and Child Development (MWCD) in 2007. This crime is not just localised, but rampant in every nook and corner in the country.

CHILDLINE Bangalore received a call from a concerned adult who informed that he had found a young girl near Bannerghatta Road in her school uniform. CHILDLINE team visited the spot and found Maitri, a ten year old girl aimlessly roaming the streets near Bannerghatta, suspected to be a victim of corporal punishment.

Maitri, a Class V student of Government Primary School in Bannerghatta was accused of stealing a hundred rupee note from the teacher's purse. The incident left the child covering fearful, and she could not muster enough courage to tell her parents about the experience. Instead, every morning Maitri would leave her home as usual and pretend that everything was normal, and that she was attending school. She also made it a point to return home around the same time she would usually return from school.

Maitri was taken to the CHILDLINE centre and was counseled. During the counseling, the child informed CHILDLINE team that she had not been attending school for several days, after her teacher had beaten her up severely. "I am scared to go back to the school, terrified of having to face my teacher," said little Maitri to CHILDLINE team. She also told the team that she did not steal the money and scared to go back to the school.

CHILDLINE provided necessary support and care to Maitri. After a short interaction with Maitri, the team could identify the address of the child. CHILDLINE team visited Maitri's home and after being informed by CHILDLINE, Maitri's grandmother, Maluamma, visited the CHILDLINE office and took the child home. Maluamma expressed shock and anguish over the incident. The team also counseled child's parents on the issue.

Systems through active advocacy

CHILDLINE India Foundation (CIF) attempts to look at the macro scenario on various Child Protection issues and works with the Government of India, State Governments and civil society organisations to bring these issues to the National agenda. CIF also discusses these issues with its partner organisations through various meets to bring all the concerned agencies on to the same platform in response to these issues. Eventually, it is through these partnership meets that CIF develops common protocols towards a more effective child protection practice.

It also includes recommendations to fill the gaps and loopholes that led to the incidents of starvation and abuse and deaths in Thane and Panvel.

Additionally, four sets of protocols for inspection, licensing, dealing with child sexual abuse and training and a code of conduct for the staff and management of MDC homes have been recommended. The court has given about 8 weeks to the Government to study this report and report to the Court on the action taken. Report on selected NICP workshops:

Activists bemoan lack of laws to deal with child sexual abuse

The National Initiative for Child Protection (NICP) workshop at Nirmala Niketan Auditorium was held to sensitise top officers of the Mumbai police on Child sexual abuse (CSA) on November 12, 2011. The workshop saw 50 officers take a day out from their busy schedule to participate. The Resource persons were from diverse professions like law, counselling and medicine and they took the participants through the basics of the three pillars of Child Protection.

With a rampant increase in the cases of child sexual abuse, this workshop was an attempt to sensitise policemen about the psychological, legal and medical aspects related to child sexual abuse, as they grapple to deal with such cases on a daily basis. Naina Athale, Faculty Member, Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS) highlighted the myths and realities of CSA. What is worrisome, she said, is that a large number of cases do not get reported. This is because in 75% cases, the person who subjects a child to abuse is a family member, relative or a person who holds a position of trust with the child.

Starting with case studies and the use of art work to put children at ease, Athale helped participants broaden their horizon of what consists of sexual abuse. While many had dealt with cases of abuse, there was low awareness about exhibitionism and digital (fingers) penetration that could also attract punishment under law. The participants were then apprised of Section 294 through which perpetrators of obscene acts such as exhibitionism, songs and expressions in public places can be booked.

Ranjeet Chouguley, Director of the Justice and Care spoke about the legal aspects of child sexual abuse. He pointed that no specialised legislation for child sexual abuse are yet in place. On the question of how to judge a case of abuse, Ranjit Chouguley, asked police officers to use only one parameter, "Always think would this be all right if it was my child? If the act is not right for your child then it is not right for someone else child."

Chouguley said, It is important for the police to describe whatever they feel when they first meet the victims, whether the victim was scared, was facing a difficulty in talking etc, because the police play a crucial role in being the eyes and ears of the judge as they are the first people in contact with the victim. Giving an example of a judge going out of her way to put a victim of abuse at ease, resource persons spoke of Justice Ranjana Desai of the Bombay High Court who created a series of parameters for a case to make the victim comfortable while giving testimony.

The accused was brought in to the back of the court and didn't stand in front of the victim. The advocate representing the accused had to submit the questions in advance which were asked by the judge, thereby freeing the victim from facing an agonizing cross examination, said Chouguley.

The Juvenile Justice Act is a welfare Act but does not look at the criminal aspects of putting perpetrators behind bars. As of now, for child sexual abuse cases, we need to rely on provisions of legislation meant for adults. This is really unfair. We are hoping to implement some concrete laws once the Child Protection Bill is passed in the winter session, he added.

Jaspal Singh Ragi, ACP of Meghavadi, who attended the workshop, said, "This workshop was very useful and clarified a lot of doubts. I would recommend this workshop to be conducted at zonal level with more officers participating."

The resource persons stressed on the long term effects of abuse on children and their inability to give exact descriptions of abusers to law enforcement agencies and difficulties in remembering sequence of events. The workshop was inaugurated with the tying of 'Suraksha Bandhans' on the wrists of all the policemen, as a gesture of CHILDLINE's appreciation for their continued commitment to protecting children.

Feb. 20: As the cricket fever grips the nation, people tend to get carried away in the excitement and this can lead to problems. In fact, at times, children go missing in stadia that are packed with large, cheering crowds and in the frenzy of the game, the caretakers of the children do not realise that the child is missing until it is too late. Two children were reported missing at the Chinnaswamy Stadium here just last week when a World Cup warm-up match was held at the stadium.

The children were two boys aged 10 and 12 and had come to see the match with their parents. However, the cricket-crazy atmosphere took hold of the crowd and the parents failed to keep a vigilant eye on their children. The nodal supervisor of the children's helpline Childline, Mr. Nagasimha G. Rao, said, "We got two calls from anxious parents about their children missing. Fortunately, the children were found and had gotten lost in the first place owing to the huge crowd at the stadium. The children were separated from their parents and had exited the stadium from a different gate."

To ensure the safety of children during this World Cup season, child rights activists are being extra vigilant to ensure that children do not suffer. "We are posting six volunteers outside the gates of the stadium and one volunteer will cover the area near the Mahatma Gandhi statue. The volunteers will wear '1098' badges and will assist any children who approach them for help," said Mr. Rao. He also said the volunteers will carry placards displaying the '1098' Childline number so that parents know which number to contact in case their children go missing. In addition, volunteers from Childline will be visiting different schools in the city to make children aware. "Our volunteers will be going on school visits so that children are aware of which number to call and whom to approach in case they get separated from their parents at a crowded stadium. The children will be specifically instructed to look for people with the '1098' badge to seek assistance if they get lost," said Mr. Rao, and added that these precautions are necessary because at a time when child trafficking is a serious threat, parents and caretakers must be as cautious as possible.

COMMUNICATE

To make child protection everybody's priority

A key mandate of CIF is to promote the cause of Child Protection through awareness and advocacy within the society. To achieve this, CIF has been continuously working towards strengthening the brand equity of CHILDLINE and raising resources from public and private trusts, corporates, events and other initiatives.

Child Sexual Abuse (CSA) Campaign in Schools

Mumbai, January 2011

CIF launched a significant initiative in the CSA awareness space. The program aims to reach 1000 schools, 1 million children and their families. The program, supported by funding from HDFC, is carried forward by trained volunteers, each of whom is allotted a list of schools to complete according to her area and language preference.

A vast majority of children never open up about the sexual abuse they face, blaming themselves for what happened, or realizing too late that they were in fact being subjected to abuse.

Most people tend to dismiss such cases as random occurrences, which are not necessarily indicative of the society at large. However, statistics prove otherwise. India has the disgraceful distinction of having the world's largest number of sexually abused children; with a child below 16 years raped every 155th minute, a child below 10 every 13th hour and one in every 10 children sexually abused at any point of time.

A study by the Union Ministry of Women and Child Development (MWCD) also shows that 53 per cent of the interviewed children reported having faced some form of abuse. Contrary to the common misconception, boys are in fact as vulnerable to abuse as girls are.

Man held for raping daughter for 2 months

PUNE: A truck driver from Ahmednagar, 120 km from Pune, was arrested on Friday for allegedly raping his 13-year-old daughter repeatedly over two months.

The accused, Balasaheb Putale, also allegedly molested his 11-year old daughter. The incident came to light when the victim approached the police, after having confided in one of her close relatives who told her to contact Childline, an organisation that works for child rights.

The accused first made sexual advances towards his older daughter, when he lost his wife three months ago. "He initially molested his daughter several times before raping her on various occasions," said Assistant Superintendent of Police, Jyoti Singh, who is the investigating officer in the case.

The girl initially resisted her father's advances until he began threatening her. The accused allegedly even beat both his daughters. Singh said Putale also tried to rape the younger daughter; but her older sister came to her rescue. The girl called Childline where volunteers asked her to lodge a police complaint. The police arrested Putale minutes after the complaint was filed.

The court remanded Putale in police custody till April 22.

MINOR GIRL GANGRAPED IN GUJARAT

A minor girl was allegedly gang-raped by two men in Angreshwar village of Bharuch district on Friday, the police said.

The incident took place when the 14-year-old girl was alone in her house in the village, as her parents had gone to work in the fields, two men entered the house and gang-raped her.

(With PTI inputs)

This alarming state of affairs prompted CIF to take action, as the need of the hour is a prevention and awareness program for the community i.e children, parents and schools in relation to this widespread issue. The 'three pillars' to Child Protection are seen as Prevention, Intervention and Rehabilitation. Though CIF plays an important role in all three, the 1098 service is more geared towards Intervention and Rehabilitation.

Specifically in the case of Child Sexual Abuse, prevention is in fact the most important of the three, because if the case is allowed to reach an intervention stage, the child has already faced abuse, and the damage has been done. The scars left by the abuse they face, run deep, influencing all areas of the child's life, right from their personal relationships to professional lives. Moreover, the experience of abuse can lead to anxiety disorders, substance abuse and depression among other issues.

Program model: Though there are already a few programs targeting parents and schools on the issue of CSA, children, who are at the receiving end of this abuse, are largely ignored when it comes to preventive communication programs. CIF's program aims to change this situation, by breaking the communication barrier between parents and children to openly discuss this issue, and encourages children to break the silence about a 'touching problem' and communicate with a trusted adult on issues related to the subject.

Volunteers are required to go through an intensive 2-3 day training program in the beginning of the programme, comprising of knowledge and skill components and also a session which trains them to deliver the programme on safe and unsafe touch in an age appropriate manner.

The school program is in no way a sex education course, rather uses a simple story telling method in schools to introduce children to the concepts of safe and unsafe touch, and what to do if they find themselves in an uncomfortable situation. Each school takes about 11 hours to complete around 20 sessions. Each session is designed to fit into one class period i.e 35-40 minutes.

Volunteers from Different Walks of Life Unite for CSA Awareness

Mumbai, January 15: The first of the three workshops for training volunteers in Child Sexual Abuse (CSA) awareness saw participation from 28 enthusiastic volunteers, from diverse walks of life. Students, teachers and parents attended the four day workshop, while 13 resource persons took them through various aspects of CSA.

The CSA awareness workshop was conducted at the Young Men's Christian Association (YMCA) International House, Mumbai Central from 12 th January to the 14 th January, culminating in a practical training session on 15 th January in two schools. The principal objectives of the workshop was to equip all volunteers with an overview of CSA related issues (knowledge) and to provide them with skills training in communication to prepare them for taking on the task of sensitising children in schools.

Dr. Asha Bajpai, Faculty Member, Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS) session on laws, proved to be an eye opener for the volunteers, when the fact that there is no Law specific to CSA available in India. Various laws that are currently used to cover CSA cases were discussed in detail. For clarity on the penalties awarded for cases of CSA, Dr. Bajpai used examples of the Freddy Peats case in Goa, the Swiss couple's case and the Prem Sagar case in Mumbai.

The last session on Day 1 was one that participants had been waiting for. Volunteers initially had only a vague idea on the '1098 service and how it works'. The session to provide clarity on the service was conducted by Kiran More, from the Committed Communities Development Trust (CCDT). More took the participants through the processes that are put in place once a call is received on 1098, and also helped them understand the partner network of CHILDLINE consisting of collab and nodal partners.

Participants at the workshop.

Jaya Aiyappa, a counselor and sex educator who conducted the 'Child Psychology' session, while agreeing with Dr. Mehta's care and compassion approach added, "It's crucial for parents and teachers to always 'be there' for children, believe in them and use non threatening mediums such as play therapy to help the child heal." Discussing how the impact of CSA differs on the basis of the severity, identity, duration and the age at which abuse takes place, Aiyappa also helped volunteers understand a child's feelings of guilt, shame, betrayal, powerlessness and helplessness.

On being asked how to understand if there's a case of sexual abuse or not, she replied, "always look for cases where they may be a high index of suspicion. For example, a child was brought to me who was burnt only from waist down. This should immediately make one suspicious because the only way this can happen is when the child has been made to stand in boiling water."

Dr. Prasad also shared details of various tests that a doctor conducts during the medical exam of the victim, such as Hepatitis B, HIV/AIDS and other STDs.

Sheela Sail, Deputy Commissioner of Police-Enforcement, Mumbai Police explained in her session about filing a First Information Report (FIR), medical examinations and submission of charge sheets. Sail also took the volunteers through the concurrent action the police force takes once an FIR has been filed by persons familiar with the case.

Sometimes one call can change a child's life or even save it. Help us in this endeavour. Be a part of it.

CHILDLINE 1098 service is a 24 hour free emergency phone outreach service for children in need of care and protection.

A new born baby girl, barely five days old, was left abandoned in a forest in Paschim Medinipur, West Bengal. The concerned locals who came across the baby rescued the child from the forest and took her to the Rural Primary Health Centre. CHILDLINE was contacted on 1098 by the Block Medical Officer of Health asking for immediate assistance. CHILDLINE team members admitted the child to the Midnapore Medical College and Hospital. The child was found in a critical condition and her left eye was partially eaten up by ants in the forest. When the condition of the child improved after intensive treatment, she was produced before the Child Welfare Committee. Later the child was placed with the Adoption Placement Agency of the district and was subsequently adopted by a couple.

Rahul, a five year old boy from Kangur was missing from home since 2000. His parents called up CHILDLINE 1098 and requested for help. The call was flashed to the CHILDLINE network across the country. In May 2009, CHILDLINE Kochi learnt that a boy by the name Rahul, aged 14 years, from Kangur, was residing at a shelter at Kochi. Childline Kangur was immediately informed and with the help of the local police, they located the parents and subsequently confirmed the identity of the child and Rahul was finally restored to the family.

Just three of the hundreds of calls CHILDLINE receives on 1098 everyday, for care and protection.

When Charu was all of three years her mother, who was a domestic help, died leaving her with the grandmother who was blind. The grandpa did not have the means to look after Charu. With the help of her neighbours, she brought Charu to the Nagpur office of CHILDLINE. After the completion of formalities, CHILDLINE was able to place Charu in a home for children, safe and secure.

With each call comes the assurance that the child will be met within an hour's time to address the child's needs and to ensure that the child is in safe hands.

We are now in the midst of expanding CHILDLINE 1098 services to more cities, and it calls for signing a wide spectrum of local, national, governmental and civil society resources and infrastructure. During the next two years, we plan to set up these services in an additional 200 cities. Our long term goal is to take these services to all the districts across the country and provide national level access for children in need of care and protection.

We appeal to you to associate with us in this initiative. Your donations will mean we can provide quality assistance to the children at the most vulnerable times. All contributions, big or small, make a difference to the lives of children who call us.

Sometimes one call can change a child's life or even save it. Help us in this endeavour. Be a part of it.

Kajol Menon
Executive Director

From a single phone outreach centre at Mumbai in 1996, receiving around 6000 calls annually, CHILDLINE has come a long way with a coverage of 91 cities today, receiving about 22,00,000 calls annually. Children call for shelter, restoration, schooling, education, medical help, protection from abuse and even for guidance. Anyone can call and report cases where an intervention by CHILDLINE is required.

The ostensible purpose of this campaign was to generate a Million 'Dosts' for CHILDLINE and acquaint people with Child Rights and Protection.

Be it a student, a taxi driver, an IT professional, a rickshaw puller or a housewife, it was the objective to reach out to people from different walks of life to get to know CHILDLINE, begin to care about vulnerable children and initiate action towards change.

The campaign included activities ranging from cricket matches in the Meerut, Kite flying in Udaipur, coolies in Baroda spreading awareness by wearing CHILDLINE Badges, a motorcycle rally in Berhampur, a signature campaign in Kochi, tying of Suraksha Bandhans to police personnel in Chennai to a CHILDLINE Bus creating hype in public spaces. CHILDLINE India Foundation

Vision

A child-friendly nation that guarantees the rights and protection of all children.

Mission

CHILDLINE will reach out to every child in need and ensure their rights and protection through the 4 Cs. It will:

- Catalyze systems through active advocacy.
- Collaborate through integrated efforts between children, the state, civil society, corporates and community.
- Connect through technology to reach the “last mile”.
- Communicate to make child protection everybody’s priority.

Objectives of CHILDLINE India:

- To reach out to every child in need of care and protection by responding to emergencies on 1098 and by physically reaching out to children.
- To adapt and integrate telecommunication technology, linking all districts to the service of 1098, and making it available to all children in need of care and protection.
- To provide a platform of networking amongst organisations and to provide linkages to support systems that facilitates the rehabilitation of children in need of care and protection.
- To work together with the Allied Systems (Police, Health Care, Juvenile Justice, Transport, Legal, Education, Communication, Media, Political and the Community) to create child friendly systems.
- To advocate for services for children that are inaccessible, non-existent or inadequate.
- To create a body of NGOs and Government organisations working within the national framework and policy for children.
- To be a nodal child protection agency in the country, providing child protection services to children in need of care and protection.
- To contribute and work towards strengthening and participating in a global movement that addresses issues related to child protection and ensures that children’s voices are heard.

The CHILDLINE service, which has been developed and managed by CHILDLINE India Foundation (CIF), is a 24-hour, toll free phone outreach service linking children in need of help and protection to organisations run by government departments as well as those run by civil society agencies. Children or concerned adults dial the number 1098 and are connected to the CHILDLINE service in their city.

Street children and youth living alone on urban streets, child labourers especially in the unorganized sector, children who have been abused, child victims of the flesh trade, differently-abled children, child addicts, children in conflict with the law, children in institutions, mentally ill children, children affected by HIV/AIDS or other long term diseases, children affected by conflicts and disasters, child political refugees, children whose families are in crisis, gender linked abortion of female foetuses, undernourished children, illiterate children are among the host of issues plaguing children in India.

At present, CHILDLINE operates in 125 cities/towns across the country and services over two million calls a year. It all began as a field action project of the Department of Family and Child Welfare, Tata Institute of Social Sciences (TISS), Mumbai, in 1996. In June 1998, the Ministry of Social Justice and Empowerment (MSJ&E), Government of India, introduced a unique partnership model for implementation of the CHILDLINE service that paved the way for the setting up of a 24-hour tele-helpline, CHILDLINE 10-9-8 a toll-free line that would land any child’s call on the nearest CHILDLINE call centre.

CHILDLINE is India’s first national level response to the ratification of the United Nations Convention on the Rights of the Child (CRC). Additionally, the CHILDLINE 1098 service receives special mention in the Juvenile Justice (Care and Protection) Act 2000- the Government has requested CHILDLINE to act as a catalyst in bringing together State agencies and voluntary agencies at the local level to ensure implementation of the Act.

CIF recognised quite early on that Child Protection issues which was not recognised in India beyond sweeping legislations. Consequently CIF was invited to make submissions for the 10th Plan. In order to put in place a process framework for implementation of Child Protection, CHILDLINE India Foundation joined hands with The National Institute of Social Defence and developed a program: ‘National Initiative for Child Protection (NICP)’. This has subsequently become the framework for the MWCD initiated Integrated Child Protection Scheme program (ICPS).

Programmes and Activities

- Responding to calls on the national toll free number 1098 and provision to rescue and offer emergency outreach services for children in need of care and protection;
- Coordinating rescue and other outreach services with the help of relevant local departments like police, administration, labour, health, railways and others;
- Ensuring proper documentation of all children rescued to facilitate their rehabilitation and restoration, where necessary;
- Producing children before the Child Welfare Committee (CWC) to ensure care and protection.
- Supporting the CWC in the long-term rehabilitation of children, where required.
- Supporting a national network for the tracking of missing children.
- Providing data related to children rescued and rehabilitated for the compilation of a national comprehensive database of child protection.
- Creating awareness and ensuring access to the 1098 Child helpline (CHILDLINE) number.
- Creating research, documentation, awareness and advocacy on issues related to the Child helpline.
- Establishing linkages with other child protection services, community and local bodies to meet the immediate needs of children rescued.

The CHILDLINE Model

CHILDLINE is a unique partnership between the Government of India, Department of Telecommunications, Voluntary agencies, Academic institutes, the corporate sector, children and the community:

The partnership model of CHILDLINE India

CHILDLINE is the crucial link between children in need of care and protection and the available services. For children with different needs, who call in anytime, anywhere, and for anything, we act as a one-point contact, which facilitates instant access to support, advice, active intervention or just a listening ear. We connect children in emergency on one end of the phone line to a well-connected network of services- Services that already exist. No new shelter, no new hospital, no new infrastructure is built.

We at CHILDLINE believe that for a helpline to be successful and effective in reaching out to the millions of children deprived of their childhood, we need to work in a partnership framework. A framework that recognizes that:

- A helpline cannot operate in isolation
- All partners involved in the helpline share a reciprocal relationship
- Each partner has clear and definite roles in the partnership model. This leads to a feeling of joint ownership towards the model.
- All partners share the vision, mission and the success of the model.

CHILDLINE Operational Structures and Processes

Nodal Organisation

The nodal organisation is usually an academic institute or Non Government Organisation with networking, training, coordination and research skills. A city coordinator is supervised by the Nodal Director who ensures creation of a protective environment for children at the city level.

They work 24hours and respond to calls that are received on the 1098 CHILDLINE service. The centre coordinator manages a team that intervenes in emergency cases and conducts outreach and networking activities.

CHILDLINE Support Agencies/ Sub-Centres

CHILDLINE Collaborative Partner is also called the Collaborative Centre, there will be, approximately, 5 to 7 Sub-Centres in districts (and 1-3 support agencies in cities) as per the specific need in the district/city, according to the nature of the population and geographical spread in the district. A team of three CHILDLINE staff members assisted by two volunteers from the Mahila Samakhya members, anganwadi workers, teachers, and woman members of the panchayat assist the Sub-Centre staff at the taluka and village levels. They will follow up on children who have returned to the village and provide information when children are being recruited and help the local community to prevent child labour.

CHILDLINE Advisory Board or District Advisory Committee (DAC)

CHILDLINE Advisory Board or District Advisory Committee (DAC) is headed by the Collector and other members includes the District Officers for Health and Education, major NGO like Mahila Samakhya and others stimulate the development of the programme in the district.
