COVID-19 CHILDLINE 1098 Emergency Relief Efforts For Migrant Families And Daily Wage Earners

While most of us stay safe in our homes carrying out our daily chores, working from home, getting our groceries delivered in the ongoing lockdown, there is a vulnerable section of society that is struggling to feed their family. The migrant workers and the daily wage earners are amongst the worst sufferers during the lockdown. Most of them have lost their jobs and are unable to put food on the table.

CHILDLINE 1098 has stepped up its efforts to help the most vulnerable section of society. They have been identifying vulnerable children and adults like migrants, nomadic population, tribes, pavement dwellers and street children across districts and linking them to the donors and district administration for the continuation of relief services.

Apart from working with the district administration, teams have been supporting the health department, to spread awareness on COVID-19, distributing safety masks and sanitizers to 'break the chain', working with the labour department and down to panchayat level.

As responsible citizens, you too can come forward to help the migrant workers and daily wage earners.

- You can request your building or society members to contribute towards creating relief food packages and distributing among the needy.
- If you are a business owner who employs migrant workers, then please make sure to provide some basic necessities and precautionary resources to them and their families.
- Call on 1098 if you come across any adult or child in need of food or basic necessities.
- You can join hands with CHILDLINE by donating towards their COVID – 19 relief efforts. (link mentioned below)
